Remember Hiroshima and Nagasaki

We are meeting to remember the only time so far that nuclear bombs have been used in war, in 1945 over Hiroshima and Nagasaki, which killed a quarter of a million people and wiped out their cities.

Seventy years later, the 8 or 9 countries known, or believed, to have nuclear weapons are stockpiling warheads. The UK has almost 200 nuclear weapons, which are ten times more powerful than those used on Hiroshima. They are on our Trident submarines.

Woking Action for Peace is one of hundreds of groups worldwide campaigning to make the world a safer place by persuading the nuclear powers to eliminate their nuclear arsenals.

This unique ceremony will begin as daylight fades. Please join us at:
